

Raquel Lopez

3rd grade at Prairie View Elementary, Mrs. Ramirez's class

Tigers By Raquel L.

Table of Contents

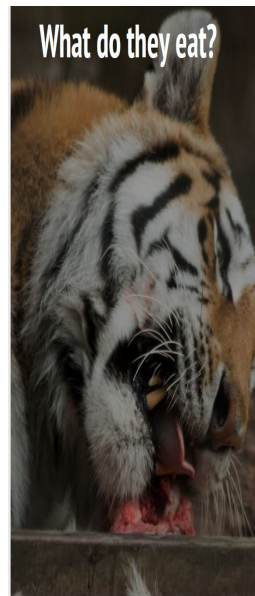

1. How do they live
2. What do they eat
3. Babies
4. Facts

Roar

A dark forest you hear a roar find out to see more.

What do they eat?

Most tigers that live in forest, rain forest and cold forest eat deer and wild hogs but if a tiger can't find food it can attack a person. They hunt by biting their prey's neck that hunt at night. It eats its food for several days. When it hunts it crouches down in the grass and attacks its prey.

How do tigers live

Tigers live most of the time alone in a dark forest but they sometimes can be in a group of tigers to hunt. Tigers can live with their cubs to. They hunt alone they even love to swim. Most of the tigers live in southeast Asia and rainforest and in mountains or in a cold forest. They have thick fur if they live in a cold forest.

"I love to write because I can use my imagination and get my thoughts out of my head."